This short film is about three different characters with different life style.

The first character 'Manish' is an extrovert. And he is happy the way he lives his life. He likes to be around with people and enjoy their company.

The second character 'Prachi' is an introvert. She is not so talkative hence she is not too much involved in the conversations with her friends. Then also she is happy with her life style.

The third character 'deependra' is not a strict extrovert or introvert. He is a balanced person. He doesn't likes to hang out with friends much, rather he spends his time with nature and reading books. That way he finds inner peace.

But at the end all the characters, despite of having different lifestyles, all the three are happy.
